

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

This invention relates to a sensor comprising a support; a sampling layer which can react with a target species to form or release a signal compound which is capable of effecting a reaction with silver halide to form a latent image,
5 and a signal amplification layer comprising silver halide.